

FAMOUS MASONIAN DIED SATURDAY AT WASHINGTON, D. C.

General William L. Marshall, Ex-Chief of Army Engineers, Native of Mason County, Is Buried in Arlington Cemetery.

Brigadier General William L. Marshall, U. S. A., retired, discoverer of the Marshall Pass across the Rocky Mountains and constructor of the Ambrose Channel in New York harbor, died in Washington Saturday night in an army hospital after a short illness. Services were held Sunday, followed by burial in Arlington National Cemetery.

General Marshall was probably the most famous son of Mason county. He was born at Washington, this county, in 1846, and after fighting in the civil war as a cavalry private gained admission to West Point. He was chief of engineers from 1903 to 1910, when he retired and became consulting engineer to the reclamation service. His long career in the Engineering Corps included many important works in the West and Middle West. He built levees on the Mississippi, harbor improvements on Lake Michigan, constructed the Heineken Canal, and made much exploration in the region of the Rockies.

He was sent to New York in 1909 to take charge of the fortifications at the eastern and southern entrances to the harbor and to improve the main channel. It was then that he widened the eastern passage so that ships of the size of the Mauretania could enter.

General Marshall was the inventor of various automatic movable dams, lock gates and valves. He was a giant in stature, weighing more than 300 pounds and in 1907 was excused from taking the ninety-mile military horse-manship test.

He is survived by three sisters and two brothers, Miss Fannie Marshall and Mrs. Sallie Wilkes, of this county and Mrs. Lucy Bentley, of Kansas and Messrs. J. Paxton Marshall and Ben H. Marshall, both of this county.

OHIO'S GOVERNOR IS CHOSEN CANDIDATE BY THE DEMOCRATS

Governor James M. Cox Is Democratic Standard Bearer — Vice President Will Be Nominated Today By Convention.

JAMES M. COX, OHIO

San Francisco, July 6. — James M. Cox, three times governor of Ohio, was nominated for the Presidency early this morning by Democratic National convention in the break-up of one of the most prolonged deadlocks in the history of national political parties. It took forty-four ballots to make a choice and it was not until the thirty-eighth, when Attorney General Palmer withdrew from the race, that the long succession of roll calls showed any definite trend. In the turnover of the Palmer delegates Cox gained the advantage over William G. McAdoo, his rival for first place since early in the balloting, and that advantage was never lost.

When the scattering Palmer delegates, who, after being released, had swung to McAdoo, drifted over into the Cox camp in increasing numbers and Cox began to take a commanding place in the balloting, Cox gained more than a majority and the fight was easy. The convention stampeded to him, flung aside its rules, and made his nomination unanimous with a shout.

A terrific uproar followed. The whole mass of delegates threw themselves into a final wild demonstration, greater than any of the orgies of noise that had preceded.

In the midst of the din, Chairman Robinson succeeded in restoring a semblance of order to get the adjournment until noon so that Governor Cox's wishes as to his renunciate could be learned.

E. H. Moore, of Youngstown, O., national committeeman from the state, and leader of the tireless and uphill fight that won the nomination for the Ohio governor, said it had been made without promises. The struggle was exceeded in voting duration in Democratic annals only by the fight at Baltimore in 1912 which gave the President his first nomination on the 45th ballot.

Just who the Vice Presidential nominee will be is quite a question. Secretary of Agriculture Meredith, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Governor Smith of New York, and Ambassador Davis, of West Virginia, seem the favorites. It is not thought that the convention will be long in selecting the nominee for second place.

CHAUTAUQUA IS OPENED BY CONCERT THIS AFTERNOON

Member of British War Mission to America Will Speak This Evening On "Winning the Peace" at Beechwood Park.

Maysville's 1920 Chautauqua was opened at Beechwood Park this afternoon with a concert by Flecht's Alpine Yodlers and this evening this same company of vocalists will give another concert and this will be followed by a lecture by Father R. J. J. Watt, of London, England, a member of the British War Mission to America. Father Watt will speak on "Winning the Peace" and reports come from other towns where he has spoken that his message is a real message for Americans.

The Superintendent of the Maysville Chautauqua, is Mr. J. A. Hildon, City Superintendent of Schools of the city of Tarkio, Missouri. He is an experienced chautauqua man having been superintendent for several years. He comes to Maysville from New Castle, Pa., where he says this program was greatly enjoyed. Mr. Hildon says that Maysville people will be agreeably surprised at the program and he thinks it one of the best chautauqua programs he has ever attended.

Miss Lilly Coburn, is a Canadian college girl, and has already won her way into the hearts of the Juniors.

Despite the threatening weather, it is expected that there will be a very large audience at the chautauqua tent this evening. Season tickets will be sold until Wednesday as the local committee is yet short on its guarantee and all those who are expecting to attend the chautauqua are urged to purchase their season tickets as soon as possible in order to save money on the program and in order to help the local committee with its guarantee.

Tomorrow afternoon a juvenile trio will furnish music and Dr. David D. Vaughn, of Boston, will speak on "American Ideals." At night the juvenile trio will give another musical concert and Davis, the Magician, who has been seen here before, will give an interesting entertainment of magic.

ELEVEN VACANCIES REMAIN TO BE FILLED IN SCHOOLS

County Board of Education Is Unable To Furnish all Schools With Teachers For Lack of Applicants.

The Mason County Board of Education finds itself in a very precarious condition because of their inability to find teachers to fill the vacancies existing in the county schools.

The board held its regular monthly meeting at the Superintendent's office on Monday and the chief order of business was the election of teachers to fill eleven vacancies. There were no applicants for the schools and the board was compelled to adjourn without filling these vacancies. The severe examinations required of teachers at present is given as one of the causes of the lack of applicants. It is hoped however that before time for the schools to open these vacancies can be filled.

Another important action of the County Board taken Monday is that students may enter any County High School whether they have passed the County Common School examination or not if they pass an entrance examination that may be given by the High School principal.

CARLISLE PHYSICIAN IS RECOMMENDED AS HEALTH OFFICIAL

Dr. Reynolds, of Carlisle, Ky., Is Recommended By State Health Board To Vacancy in Mason County.

Dr. P. W. Covington, of Louisville, in charge of the County Health Work of the state, met here today with the Mason County Board of Health and recommended the election of Dr. Reynolds, of Carlisle, Ky., to the position of County Health Officer recently made vacant by the resignation of Dr. J. L. Rice.

As there was not a quorum of the County Board present at this afternoon's meeting, no action could be taken but Dr. Reynolds will visit Maysville in the immediate future to meet with the members of the County Board and to discuss the proposition with them thoroughly.

Dr. Covington says that the man recommended to Mason county is well qualified for the work and is now practicing medicine in Carlisle. He has prepared himself especially for Public Health Work. It is more than likely that the County Board will elect a successor to Dr. Rice before the close of this week.

DISCONTENT FOSTERED
BY THE WILSON REGIME

Riddick, of Montana, Says False Promises Have Led to False Views around Threats of Violence.

Washington. — "Nation-wide discontent, the increase of radicalism and even socialism, the strikes and threats of violence, the uniting of hundreds of thousands of farmers of great Western states into organizations for self protection and redress, are unmistakable evidence of dissatisfaction that exist throughout the nation over, dissatisfaction with governmental affairs as conducted under the autocratic policies of Woodrow Wilson and his Democratic administration."

This is the declaration of Representative Cary W. Riddick, of Montana, one of the ardent Republican friends of the farmer in Congress. In a speech he arraigns in ringing terms the false promises of the Wilson administration. He continues:

"Things do not just happen in this world. There is a cause for the high cost of living. There is a cause for the decreased production and general shortage of things we need. There is a reason for the general demoralized condition of affairs in the Nation. There is a reason for the radical expressions from producers in city and country and the organized expressions of unrest. Charge that President Wilson and his Democratic administration are directly responsible for these evils, and my observation is that the people of the Nation will recognize that fact, and will repudiate him and his autocracy and willfulness and false promises and unsound theories when they vote at the coming election."

"Nearly eight years ago President Wilson and his party came into complete control of the executive and legislative branches of Government on the claim that the country was in the hands of plutocrats and profiteers. They said that by laws curbing monopoly and introducing the 'new freedom' and by bringing the Government to that 'simplicity and economy befitting a democratic government' that they would lift the burden of high living costs and high governmental cost from the backs of the American people."

"That was the beginning of an administration of false promises."

"During the first year of complete control of the country conditions went from good bad. After a year and a half hundreds of thousands of men went out of work, prices for farm products had dropped, and the Nation was rapidly facing a panic. Then came the World War that temporarily saved the situation in this country."

"Then followed an era of more camouflaging and false promises that cost this Nation, in the blood and lives of our sons and in money treasure, more than can ever be estimated. The unpreparedness with which we entered the war was the sole fault of the President."

"During the early period of the war the President declared to the world that the American people were too proud to fight, and that the causes of the war were no concern to us, that he was unable to discern any difference between the purposes of the two sets of belligerents, that it was our duty to be neutral even in our thoughts, and that we might hope to have peace without victory, and that America must lead her own life and keep clear of European entanglements."

"When Members of Congress suggested the need of making some preparation for a war that was known to be inevitable by those upon the inside of governmental affairs he denounced such suggestions as needless excitability and hysteria."

"He sought reelection on this record, but he kept us out of war, and after election went before Congress and recommended that he should enter the war."

Louisville, Ky., July 2.—A call for a special meeting of the Republican State Central Committee was issued today by Chairman Chesley Searcy to be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at state headquarters in the Republic building, Louisville. Other contests were settled by the committee at a meeting held here last week. The Lee county contest was passed in order to give one side further time in which to prepare its case. The committee will probably take up important matters in connection with the coming state and national campaign.

The test of this is the test that counts. Doan's Kidney Pills have made their reputation by effective action. The following case is typical. Maysville residents should be convinced. The testimony is confirmed—the proof complete. Testimony like this cannot be ignored.

Mrs. John Burns, W. Second St., Maysville, says: "I was subject to severe spells of backache and other kidney trouble. They would come on every three or six months and there were times when I was confined to bed and rendered helpless. The quick and decided benefit I received from Doan's Kidney Pills was wonderful. I have never had such severe attacks since."

Nearly thirteen years later, Mrs. Burns said: "I have the same good words of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills today as ever. I haven't needed a kidney medicine since I took them."

Catarrrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surface of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 15c.

On account of the fact that a saw mill is on the grounds to saw up a lot of timber before campmeeting the board decided to use saw dust for a covering of the ground under tabernacle instead of straw as in former years. Persons who have depended upon campmeeting straw to fill their mattresses had better bring their own straw this year.

The later date set for campmeeting this year—July 29th to August 8th—meets with universal favor. Farmers say that it will enable them to get caught up well with their work, besides it will give the hotel keeper a better opportunity to secure vegetables.

After the Fourth of July comes the Chautauqua, then in a few days campmeeting. How anxiously will the campers look forward to the time from now on. Another successful meeting seems assured.

Parties may come and go, politicians may rise and fall; but the education of the youth of the country goes on forever.

Our rural schools have in the past been too often dragged into the mire of local politics, and it is gratifying to know that both parties joined hands at the last session of the legislature and passed laws which will go a long way toward keeping our rural schools out of the political game.

While every voter in Kentucky is interested in the Presidential election next November, there is ~~one~~ reason why the election of strong men to the new County Boards of Education ~~will~~ ^{should} be neglected. REUNION AND PICNIC OF OLD SETTLERS IS GREAT SUCCESS

Annual Gathering of Old Settlers at Ruggles Campgrounds Proves to Be Grand Success Saturday.

The Old Settlers of Mason, Fleming and Lewis counties had their banner patriotic reunion and picnic at Ruggles Campgrounds on Saturday. Such ideal weather! Such an ideal place! What more could one wish? The favorable weather has made the beautiful grove the more beautiful. Those who were there for their first time were in ecstasies over the beauty of the place. Many thought last winter when the campmeeting board has a large number of dead and dying trees cut that it would spoil the looks of the place. Instead of spoiling the place it has added to the appearance. The trees are not untaxed. Rather it is better to have no dead trees to be broken by the winds thus endangering campers should a storm come.

The usual large crowd—a little larger if anything—was there and enjoyed to the utmost the fine program provided. Of course our own boys' Band was the big attraction. Never did music sound sweeter than out under the shade of the big woods. Rounds of applause greeted their every selection. And you should have seen the dinner President Grigsby and his good wife and others provided for the boys. More fried chicken (the kind campmeeting people always get cakes of all kinds, pies in abundance, besides a superabundance of such solid "crab" as ham sandwiches, cheese, etc. The boys just simply revelled in the feast. Others, too, got in on the good things. We can safely say without fear of successful contradiction, that Colonel Fred Bassett "got even" for all the chicken preachers had eaten at his home.

The honor of presiding over the meeting was given to Col. W. H. Thomas who for many years was the successful president of the association. Col. Thomas was very much at home at his old job. The orator for the morning was Hon. Taylor Lamm, of Louisville, who is close kin to Lewis county, who gave a fine address. The Hon. R. P. Ernst, of Covington, spoke in the afternoon to an audience that more than filled the tabernacle. Mr. Ernst by his pleasing manner won many friends on the campgrounds. He was loud in his praises of the grandeur of the place. And Col. Fred Bassett! Well he certainly "made goo" as the "funniest" man ever turned loose on Ruggles Campgrounds. He "put over" several brand new ones as well as trotting out "Magnolia" for the amusement of the crowd. Fred was turned up good and proper and made a very favorable impression on the crowd. They will want him again next year, sure. A specially pleasing feature of the afternoon was the singing of two beautiful solos by Mrs. Helth, of Vanceburg. Mrs. Helth has a voice of rare quality, has a pleasing presence, winning popular favor at once.

There were many old people present, more than is usual. The reading of a list of the old settlers who have passed away during the year was omitted this year. However, several familiar faces were missing, one of whom was Mr. J. F. Thomas who for many years had been treasurer of the association. The passing away of Mr. Thomas is a distinct loss to the Association as well as to the community.

The election of officers for the next year resulted as follows:

President—R. C. Grigsby.
Vice President for Fleming County—J. Luther Markwell.

Vice President for Mason County—J. H. Richardson.
Secretary—Chas. Burdick, Toleboro.

Treasurer—Col. W. T. Thomas, Burlington.

An unusually large number of Maysville people were present, among whom were Dr. W. S. Vazell, Editor Clarence Mathews of the Public Ledger, R. A. Cochran, J. Barbour Russell, A. L. Glaseock, C. T. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wood, Major and Mrs. John Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Duke White and daughter, Mrs. W. S. Antle and daughter.

One of the most striking features of the big picnic was the elaborate and tastefully arranged decorations. Major Walsh exceeded all previous efforts this year. "Old Glory" was prominently displayed. The first sight that greeted the crowd was an immense flag hung at the main entrance to the grounds. This, along with the other features joined in making it the best meeting the Old Settlers have ever had.

RECOGNITION IN HEAVEN IS REV. DR. BARBOUR'S SUBJECT

Pastor Barbour Delights Large Audience on Subject of Heavenly Recognition Sunday.

Dr. John Barbour, pastor of the Presbyterian church delighted a very large audience Sunday morning on a subject of great interest.

The text chosen was: Luke xvi:9: "I say unto you make to yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness, that, when ye fail, they may receive you into everlasting habitations."

He said in part: The belief in the reunion of friends in heaven is a part of the general Christian faith. Yet there are some who seem to feel that there is no certainty of this, that it is a matter entirely of speculation. I believe, however, that there are explicit statements in the Word that justify the hope, but if there were not, I should hold it just as confidently.

There is no more thoughtless idea than that everything we believe must rest upon a positive "Thus saith the Lord." Why the church of God had no positive teaching of immortality for all the centuries before Christ. Nevertheless it was the general belief of the church. Abraham grasped it very clearly and when Christ came he rebuked the literalists who rejected it. He cited the name of God as "the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob." "God is not the God of the dead, said He, but of the living. They should have seen that truth in that Scripture. There is no one misses the real meaning of the Bible oftener than the crass literalist who holds on to the letter and forgets the spirit.

Now, I believe, that this truth lies in the very nature of intelligent being. It requires an object similar to itself to come to its fullest self. "It is not good for man to be alone." Adam's mind and heart could not have been developed without a mate, and that dependence on others for fullest development goes over into the eternal world. If God was not all that man needed in Eden then he will not be all that he needs in heaven.

The faculties of man's mind must operate so long as he is a man. Take memory, for instance. Is it conceivable that the mind could start in heaven a blank without memories or heart ties essential to its happiness if not to its very life? If heaven is a progress beyond this state, it does not begin with the annihilation of so fundamental a part of our nature.

"Your heart shall live forever," says one Scripture. If human happiness is not largely dependent on human fellowships, then we do not know anything distinctive about humanity, and the French revolutionists were right—"death is an eternal separation."

Then there are the Christian graces. Love, here, is the very test of discipleship. As Bernard said: "It is the completion of man's education by God." But love implies companionship and service in heaven.

"It soweth here in toil and care But the harvest time of love is there."

Growth in knowledge too implies sympathy. We grow more and more toward each other.

Now all this raises a powerful presumption for the belief we are considering. It rests, therefore, with those denying it to adduce a single Scripture negating it. We have a right to say: "If that which buds in grace is not to bloom

In bliss and thou canst prove it so, say on."

But there is also positive evidence in the Scriptures. It is said that the patriarchs were "gathered to their fathers." Does that mean nothing more than the laying of their bones together in one place? But Abraham was not laid in his father's sepulchre, and Moses, of whom it was used, no man knoweth of his sepulchre and as a fact he appeared in glory in his own body at the transfiguration. At the death of his child David cried: "I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me."

In the transfiguration scene on Mount Herman we have a very picture of the heavenly recognition. Moses and Elias associated in heaven and came down and are recognized by Peter and the others, and they talk together about Christ's coming descent.

Turn another page and there is the picture of Lazarus lying in Abraham's bosom. What can that mean but that the lowliest of the redeemed are to know and commune with the greatest there?

Paul assured the grieving Thessalonians that their believing friends were not lost to them but that they were to meet in Christ's presence when He comes. Where is any truth or fact taught clearer than that?

All the representations of Heaven imply this. It is a holy society, a kingdom, a family, a city—all of which implies the gathering together of their members. Its music is a chorus. Our Savior pictured it in the fourteenth of John as a home, but what is a home without its uncles, its greetings and its services in common? If it were not so I would have told you," said the Master, thus legitimating the natural inferences that we draw from such figures.

What an impulse to holy living, what a valuation this puts on our earthly friendships? "If I thought," said Richard Baxter, "that I should never know them there I should in reason number them with temporal things and only love them as such."

Next to the favor of God, which is life itself, our wealth in heaven will be measured by the friendships we have there, the circles into which we can move with sympathy.

Christ says in our text "Make friends with your money who will receive you when you enter the heavenly gates." And is this not an explicit statement of heavenly recognition? He is not dealing with that truth specially here, but in connection with his teaching on the right stewardship of money He says: "Use it so that it may bring you friends to greet you in your everlasting home."

Every soul made better of helped by your sacrifice will be waiting to welcome you up yonder. That poor child that you helped out of poverty and shame will be there to give you greeting and add to your happiness in heaven. Dusky faces from China, India and Africa will press forward to meet those who sent them the hospitals which brought them their sight and their knowledge of the Son of God.

But above all our own dear ones are to be restored to us. I believe that where families are distinctively Christian they will have closer association together there. The family is the very type of heaven. God Himself has a beloved Son. That cannot be abandoned which exists so essentially in human life. I believe that Abraham the father of the faithful and Sarah the mother of the faithful will be especially dear to each other there.

"There the child has found its mother There the mother finds her child, There dear friends are gathered That were scattered in the world."

Let us look forward then with delight to this manifestation of the sons of God, and let us labor and pray that we may help to increase the blessedness of the redeemed, and that none that are most dear to us may be missing in that great day of rejoicing in the presence of God and of the holy angels.
